"In the Right Place at the Right Time"

July 6th – July 19th

My mother had an unwavering faith in God, trusting that everything would work out according to His plan. She believed this in big ways like when her brother—just 20 years old—was killed in a plane crash and she refused to be angry or bitter about it, trusting that God called him home at such a young age for a reason even if she had no idea what that reason was.

She trusted God in small ways too. When I used to go shopping with Mom, if we found a nearby parking space, she'd say, "Thank you, God, for this parking space so I don't have to walk!"

So I asked her what she says when she can't find a nearby space and she unhesitatingly replied, "Thank you, God! You know I needed the exercise!"

It didn't matter what the situation was, good or bad, she'd find a reason to praise God because she trusted him. She knew in her heart that everything would work out at the end.

That's what I'm trying to emulate right now, how I'm trying to follow her example.

I've got a big to-do list right now...but I'm not feeling well. I've got so many things to do...but I'm having coughing fits and my brain is fuzzy. So I think I'd better take some medicine and go to bed. "Thank you, God! You know I need more rest and now I have a good reason to go to bed before midnight."

Okay, God, I'm putting Summer Ex in your hands too. We need campers, we need staff, we need afterhours supervision, we need Knott's Berry Farm tickets, and...and....

Okay, I need to get to bed, get well and get rid of this cough, and trust that all is going according to God's plans. God's in charge of Summer Ex. Are you part of His plans? I hope so!
